International Business Studies

With one out of every three jobs in Canada linked directly to goods and service export, few would dispute trade is a vital component of Canada's economic health. By the same token, we believe the development of today's youth – tomorrows International business leaders – is equally important.

Leaders of the Future

In a continued effort to foster and export culture in Canada and create a workforce that is globally minded, the BC Export Award Committee is pleased to offer the BC Export Award for International Business Studies

This award recognizes students who have demonstrated leadership, excelled in their international business studies (be it international business, finance, relations or economics) and have made a significant contribution to the export community in British Columbia
